

LOOK!

I Spy Faces

Look around, can you find a kanohi / face in an everyday object? Seeing faces in things when they aren't really there is something we're hard wired to do, its called pareidolia!

1. Take a look around and see what faces you can find. Look at trees, fences, mailboxes, piles of clothes, electric plugs. Where else could you look?
2. Take photos of all the faces you find.
3. If you cannot find any faces, arrange a few objects together to make a face!
What expression can you make?

John Stezaker loves searching for shapes that look like faces in clouds, cliffs, buildings etc. →

Photography tip – don't forget to zoom in so the face fills the frame.
